Bare with this odd question, but it directly relates to the good guy stuff we have talked about. Are you interested in supporting a way off the books op for the Red Cross?

Shit will be a bit hairy and I'm going to lead the assault team. As long as you are ok with that. There will be some funding involved and I can give you the details in person but I feel very confident you are going to be interested. This will have nothing to do officially with you or NEWCO by will lay groundwork for future projects when you are ready to hit launch.

We will have to get together fairly soon on this because if we get involved, time will be of the essence.
